"As a BRIDGE, we provide curricular experiences which form a linkage between commitment and ministry for persons preparing to serve as qualified leaders in the service of God."

"As a CARING COMMUNITY of faculty, staff, and students, we are bonded together through our mutual commitment to Christ and our relationship to each other as members of His body."

Dr. Bostrom has come a long way since his unexpected by-pass surgery of September 2. After some difficult setbacks, when life hung in the balance, he progressed sufficiently to be released from the hospital on September 27. Part of his recovery time was a two-week stay in Florida to help him get the enforced rest he needed away from the work he was eager to get back to. Throughout that difficult fall semester the Bostroms tell of receiving encouragement in many and varied forms from the college community. Dr. Bostrom expressed his feelings in this quote in Pulse Lifelines: "My heartfelt thank you goes out to all who sent cards, provided meals to ease the strain on Naomi, sent flowers, and faithfully remembered me in prayer."

POSITIVE SIDE

During the summer months, two Christian Service groups representing Fort Wayne Bible College proclaimed the message of the gospel in many churches and other types of gatherings. HIS Company, a seven-member drama troupe, traveled in the Midwest, on the West coast, and in Hawaii. They left Fort Wayne with their repertoire of two 45-minute dramas, some children's plays, and a series of dramalogues on May 27 and, aside from three rest days on campus, did not return until August 15. Positive Side, a six-member music group, traveled on the weekends in the Tri-state area and worked on campus during the week. Both groups received letters of thanks from ministers whose churches were blessed through their presentations.

CAREER DAY

Mr. Hagstrom's address on Career Day emphasized the "person approach." We were to pinpoint our capabilities, interests, and desires/aspirations and match them up. Every job has its "reds" he said. Reds represent those things we don't enjoy doing. A job has to have enough "greens," those things we do enjoy doing, to be fulfilling. Some of his advice was that we should rely on God, not on our own decision, and be aware that doubts will always set in. But not to be alarmed, for if we were certain, we'd start not trusting. Get five people to pray regularly for you, he said.

TOP LEFT: Gary Carlyle takes advantage of the opportunity to gather information about seminars. TOP RIGHT: The stop light is a reminder of Dr. Hagstrom's message. Green lights are the things we enjoy doing and have had successes in. MIDDLE: Students had opportunity to become acquainted with 34 church and church-related organizations that could hold a key to their futures. ## Coach's Corner

"Once again, as the coach of the Falcons, there is nothing that makes me prouder than to see the men play in such a way that obviously demonstrates Christlike attitudes and characteristics. In one game, I had a player approach me from the other team who said that in all of his years of playing soccer, never had he played with, or against, a team who he felt represented Christ more accurately than the players of the 1983 Fort Wayne Bible College soccer team. No greater compliment has ever been paid to any team than this."

"This season held some very exciting moments for the volleyball team. The schedule was tougher this year; yet we posted a winning record of 12-5, having lost to schools such as Huntington, Bethel, Marion and Concordia — but we did defeat Bethel once and Concordia once.

"Next year's schedule promises to be similar and we look forward to it with great anticipation, especially since all the ladies on this year's squad are eligible to play next year. Anyone who has yet to see the Falcon Volleyball Team play are the ones missing out." Coach Deb Rupp

The Pig Roast sponsored by Schultz Hall involved each SA's wing with each wing picking up a part of the event to get the fun rolling.

Student and community participation made the Pig Roast a tasteful event. The Burkey brothers' contributions made this community outreach a successful undertaking. Pat Black and Rich Andrew's musical additions were great for the spirit.

Off-Campus Singles began the fall semester with a dinner party at Duff's, and then returned to campus for a communion service. Luncheon meetings every other Wednesday have brought the group together for prayer. In December the group invited the entire school to co-operate in a Christmas Food-Drive in cooperation with the churches of Fort Wayne. Thirty-eight students responded and a total of 1900 cans of food was collected and turned over to the Fort Wayne Food Bank for distribution. The fall semester officers under the presidency of Mark Gammon are to be commended for their initiative and follow-through. The strong interest shown by the group is a hopeful sign that this kind of fellowship for off-campus students will flourish here.

FALL CHAPELS INSPIRE

RIGHT: Ron Fahl, missionary to Brazil, is greeted by Karen Ummel after his inspiring chapel message.

Ron Fahl, church planter in the Amazon area, was paralyzed in a Honda accident in October of '82. He told the student body that the presence of suffering should not be troublesome since Jesus said, "Take the part of a good soldier in suffering." He spoke of two great "museums" in the spiritual world: one contains evidence of those "who through faith subdued kingdoms" and the other (equally as great) is for those who were destitute, afflicted, martyred, and lived and died in seeming defeat.

His message was a memorable one, vibrant with victory, as he spoke of now returning to Brazil in spite of the wheelchair. The Overseas Board of the Missionary Church was unanimous in its decision to support his return.

ABOVE: Rick Hawks, pastor of Blackhawk Baptist Church, speaks with Greg Shultz after delivering a message from I Cor. 9 on running the race for excellence. "Today everyone wants the product without going through the process."

How shall we sing the Lord's song
in a strange land?
Psalm 137:4

LEFT: David Mains, Pastors' Day speaker, gave some history of revival in the church. He pleaded for the convicting power of prayer to bring revival to the church again. The group sang "By the rivers of Babylon, there we sat down, yea, we wept, when we remembered Zion."

Praise Chapels, Spiritual Emphasis Days, Music Chapels, Missions Emphasis, Contemporary Issues Series, Olan Hendrix, Rick Hawks, Phil Paino, Dave DeSelm, Don Kinser, Positive Side, HIS Company, Leonard DeWitt, and many guests. And they our own faculty and staff: Roger Ringenberg, Doug Barcalow, Fred Van Dyke, Curt Richards, Howard Dunlap, Judy Green, Jay Platte, Daryl Cartmel, Jim Saddington, Denny Williams, Ron Scharfe, Alice Joy Weddle, Arlan Birkey, Richard Dugan, etc. And students delivered great sermons: Jeff Gerig, Bill Lepley, Bob Herman, and Richard Fidler. Then there is the carefully prepared special music too numerous to list but very special.

STUDENT GOV. PROVIDES FUN TIMES

all photos by Tina Throesch

Cafe de Back Yard was a memorable social occasion in freshman orientation week. The cider and munchies served by candle light, with live music, set the mood for meeting new friends.

The all-school picnic (in cooperation with Saga) was one of those rare pressure-less occasions: the excitement of being back into studies with the due dates still a long way off.

The popular Nearly Wed Game, hosted by Dave Gruber who challenged the wits of four soon-to-be wed couples, packed out The Hollow.

In October about 200, dressed in costumes ranging from faucets to unidentifiables, crowded onto the floor of Roller Dome South for the costume skate. Monthly roller-skating still remains one of the most anticipated activities.

A harvest celebration in Lexington gave opportunity for an evening of song and refreshment. and an unusual pumpkin-carving contest.

TOP LEFT: The Labor Day all-school picnic was on a pleasant but cloudy afternoon. Jim and Deb chat a while. TOP RIGHT: Brian Allison and Dann Zehr get ready for the moment of creation. In the hectic week before first semester finals, Honeytree's songs were gentle like rain on our dry places, a reminder that though we'd been worried about grades and finances and a host of other things, God's Spirit was very near. Again we rejoiced in our personal relationship with our Lord.

"She's genuine," remarked
Cory Koos.

ABOVE: David McDaniel, the guest bass soloist, is a native of Woodburn. He has worked with the Butler Opera Workshop and the Indianapolis Opera Company, and is a founding member of the Indianapolis Singers Theatre. Recently he toured Europe as a soloist with "The Sounds of Hope."

Singing the "Amen" in the final glory of sound as the 1983 performance comes to an end.

A hush fell as the Sunday afternoon audience arrived in Founders Hall, leaving behind the cold, wet weather of a December day. The familiar strains of the Overture to Handel's great piece began, played by a fifteen piece orchestra composed of a mix of musicians from the Philharmonic and from the College.

Dr. Wes again played that very difficult part in Part III that he plays so well, "The trumpet shall sound."

The chorus was made up of about fifty Choral Union members and about twenty others from the faculty and area churches.

SINGING IS LANGUAGE OF THE EMOTIONS

SAYS HUSTAD: STALEY LECTURER

Why should you be interested in these lectures on music? Because all of you are in church music — you sing.

The worship service is a rehearsal, the performance of which is always coming off in life.

We teach more doctrine with our hymns than with our sermons.

Sometimes look at a hymn and ask yourself what it says. The tune usually distracts from the words. We don't really see the hymn as a poem. If you really want to know a hymn as an idea get a book with only the words of the hymn.

Look at Isaiah 6:1-8, the record of one man's worship. It is like a drama filled with images and responses, and notice that God is the central figure — not the worshipper. Worship is dialog and sacrifice and practice in becoming in spirit and thought the people we ought to be.

Church music is evaluated by other rules than the ones used to evaluate music with a capital M. The important question in judging church music is whether or not it serves the purposes of God within the culture.

Music is not the lollipop you get for injecting the strong meat of the sermon.

Is there danger in responding with the emotions? Not if it is strong emotion. But too much evangelical response to music is sentimental, not coming from a full-orbed worship experience. Often it is not the song itself that is sentimental but the singer's reasons for singing. Ordinary music may become the vehical of God's grace.

Clapping during the music is much better than after the music.

Hustad humor: "How dare you disturb me now," said the dead composer; "I am decomposing."

"A Mighty Fortress"

Did we in our own strength confide,
Our striving would be losing,
Were not the right Man on our side,
The Man of God's own choosing.
Dost ask who that may be? Christ Jesus, it is He;
Lord Sabaoth His name, From age to age the same,

And He must win the battle.

QUESTION AND RESPONSE

Often after special chapel speakers, time is reserved for questions which usually are asked at the mikes placed in the aisles. Often discussions continue in classes which the special speakers are asked to address.

Pete Peterson gave a brief outline in chapel of the scriptural references to occultism and illustrated with examples from his experience as a TEAM missionary in France.

Dr. David Scholer was invited to speak for a Spiritual Emphasis Day on the topic "The Role and Status of Women in the New Testament." He gave much cultural and historical background before discussing the key controversial texts. The question and response sessions were long and lively.

PREJUDICE HURTS

Beginning with a prejudiced (but humorous) discussion by the committee (Mayers, Green, and Barcalow) of why no other faculty members were qualified to work with them, they led us through a forty-eight hour experiment in prejudice. In addition to being "banded," we were denied certain privileges, forced to sit in specified areas, and mocked by our classmates. Through this we were given an opportunity to sense what it is like to be discriminated against, and, hopefully, we gained some empathy for those who face these situations everyday.

In the picture on the left Gary Burdick removes his band at the end of the experiment and takes a moment to consider the effect of that senseless divider of people.

"Operation Prejudice" was one unit in the series on contemporary issues. The others this year were on materialism and stewardship (How Much Is Enough?), on Marxism, and on the role of women in the Church.

COACH'S CORNER

November 7 to March 9 — four months that seemed very long and yet, at the same time, very short. They were definitely very full and exciting months:

- In those four months we saw . . .
- ourselves building as a team
  - an abundance of injuries
  - two overtime games
  - close losses and close wins
  - ourselves learning to glorify the Lord in winning and losing.

- We experienced special highlights . . .
- winning Midwest regionals, winning against two teams which had defeated us in regular season
  - traveling to Nationals and having the opportunity to play in Tennessee.

What a season! The Lord blessed and we are very thankful to Him and to all of you.

COACH'S CORNER

FRUSTRATION: Would we have enough players to field a competitive team?

ANTICIPATION: Yes, we could field a competitive team! A third place finish at the Tip-Off Tournament and the Championship of our own Falcon Turkey Tournament gave hope of a good season.

SUSPENSION: "For he knows how we are formed, he remembers that we are dust." (Ps. 103:14) We all were reminded anew that we have clay feet. We also learned that our actions have an impact on other people. We all will be better for the hard lessons we learned this year.

DEPRECIATION: Two starters transfer out at the end of the first semester, one player is declared ineligible, and one player leaves the team. We are down to six players when we return from Christmas vacation.

INVITATION: Shawn Fingerle and Don Vardaman are invited to "step into the gap." Without their selfless efforts we couldn't have gotten the job done.

COMMENDATION: The team loses to Cincinnati Bible College in the championship game of the Midwest Regionals and finishes 15-9, the best finish since 1976. Ray Hylton is chosen All District, and becomes FWBC's third NCCAA All-American basketball player when in March he is named to the team.

EXALTATION: "Great is the Lord and most worthy of praise . . . (Ps. 145:3) We praise you, Lord, for everything you allowed us to experience as individuals and together as a team.

"In less than two years the band has grown from 20 to 50 people." Those are the words of joyful and enthusiastic Prof. Dana Collins. Since Prof. Collins started as Music Director in September of 1981 the band has also broadened content and productions. Two special additions to their schedule were their participation in the All-City Band Festival in which F.W.B.C. joined Indiana-Purdue University of Fort Wayne in the Performing Arts Center, and their off-campus Pops N' Pizza concert held at the Trinity United Methodist Church. With an itinerary of about 20 concerts and rehearsals the members of this year's band found themselves quite active and pleased with their objectives of ministering for the Lord through the medium of music. When asked her opinion, band member Kim Brown summarized it quite well, "That's our focus, to 'Sound His Praises'!"

THE LARGER COMMUNITY

All of us who live and study here touch the larger community in many ways, such as in our work and Christian service. But during this year there were some special ways we were made aware of the larger sphere. The WBCL Sharathon days brought visits and pledges from over 4500 listeners in the Tri-state area. Then a few weeks later, January 17, the visit of the Bloodmobile made us conscious of other people's needs, and one-hundred units of blood were given that afternoon! In March, after nearly two years of marching and our own Jim Schweickart's work on the Executive Board of Citizens For Decency Through Law, three adult bookstore-theatre operations were closed. On the evening of March 29 many of us participated in the rally outside the Rialto to celebrate and to work with others to continue the protest.

Much of B.C. life is found in dorm events. The student and resident advisors of each dorm are always creative in planning special events with the student body in mind. The third annual Schultz Putt-Putt was a blast of a good time. A 25¢ donation went to the Student Missionary Fellowship for each round of golf played. The Lexington Carnival offered a fun and exciting evening with the chance to throw a pie at a professor. Bethany's Coffee House ministered to the needs of the more serious side of life. The year is full of activities and events but those which are closer to the home and the heart are those which happen in the dorm.

CHRISTIAN SERVICE

Learning How Serving Now

The Christian Service Department provides FWBC students with opportunities to put into practice what they learn in the community. These experiences aid students in developing their skills and abilities as further preparation for ministry. During the 1983-84 school year the C.S. Department supervised 289 students in 194 cooperating churches and organizations. These churches and organizations represent 24 different denominations. In addition, C.S. scheduled the music group, TRIUMPH!, and the drama troupe, HIS Company. These groups traveled over 7,000 miles and ministered in 94 services.

SMF A WORLD VISION

SMF brought an awareness of missions in the world through its chapel programs. The first chapel brought Dr. Zenas Gerig who spoke of the vision for the Carribean Graduate School of Theology.

One of the projects of SMF was to encourage the dorms to adopt a missionary to correspond with. Bethany had Rich and Barb Black in France; Schultz and the houses, Howard Moser, Equador; Lexington, Nysa Costa, West Africa. The annual penny/nickel offering was collected in the dorms and went to these missionaries.

The suppertime prayer fellowships were well attended with a different continent being prayed for each evening.

If love is patient
and love is kind,
You are that to me.

If love is never envious,
That's how you seem to be.
If love is never selfish
or demanding its own way,
Then you've exemplified this
in our walking day by day.
If love means being loyal
no matter what the cost,
You've spent a lot on me, dear
Considering not your loss.
All the human gifts of man
will come to end some day,
But love's endurance still will stand.
This, our Scriptures say.

YOUTH CONFERENCE THEME SONG

"Free Indeed"

If you will stay in my Word
If you will act on what you've heard
If you will follow only Me
My true disciple you will be —

You will know the truth
You will know the truth
You will know the truth
And the truth will make you free

You will know the truth
You will know the truth
You will know the truth
And the truth will make you free — indeed!

GREAT EVENT!

Those who missed seeing this spring production of the Department of Music under the direction of Dr. Jay Platte really missed participating in a great event. The audience did truly participate with an inner "yes" to the truth of the words and spirit of this very musical musical. The unhesitating standing ovation testified to the audience's involvement. Those who saw it on Thursday or Friday came back for a second time or wished they could.

The musical was written by Cam Floria and based on the Genesis narrative. Floria wrote original music but also used songs by contemporary composers. Somehow it all fit together and the old, old story spoke loudly and clearly to this generation: Trust God in the darkness for what he promised in the light.

This last worship service for seniors was held Friday, May 4. Rev. David Biberstein's message was entitled "Life After the Bridge." # THE LORD BE PRAISED Graduation Day, Saturday May 12, dawned wonderfully clear and sunny after a season of rain. The weather matched our emotions for we now realized we were out of the long tunnel.

Dr. Robert Cooley, Pres. of Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary, addressed us on the subject "Stumbling Blocks and Stepping Stones," using the story of Joseph as his text.

After receiving our degrees (48 B.S. and B.A. and 11 A.A. degrees) we sang the Alma Mater and recessed.

Each year wings on campus are grouped into brother/sister wings. They have fun times and serious times when they grow close to each other and to the Lord. Memories created during these times together are treasured for a long time.

CLOSING WORDS . . .

Closing words are neither easy nor settling. A year has passed and with it there have been trials and special events. The people portrayed within these covers are a part of a unique and gifted family. God's grace has shone upon us and we are expanded.

My thanks goes to the following individuals for their contribution in making this record the piece of creativity it is: To Dr. Alice Joy Weddle for her advisory position which made the final draft final. To Miss Eunice Conrad for her advisory position which kept me on track and for her immense contribution of energy and creativity. To Tina Throesch who hung in with us even after leaving at the end of the first semester. To Nancy Ford, Tommy Logan, Steve Gagnon, Dan Lambert, Jane Yoder, Paula Wehner, and Sarita Rubrake for their outstanding efforts in the varied jobs of the photographic, printing, and layout processes. Without them this book could not be.

Working with each of you has made me grow in great ways. To all, again I say thank you.

In His spirit,

Gregory Sowles
Editor
